My Family Tree

20 Feb 2016 221-2016-3

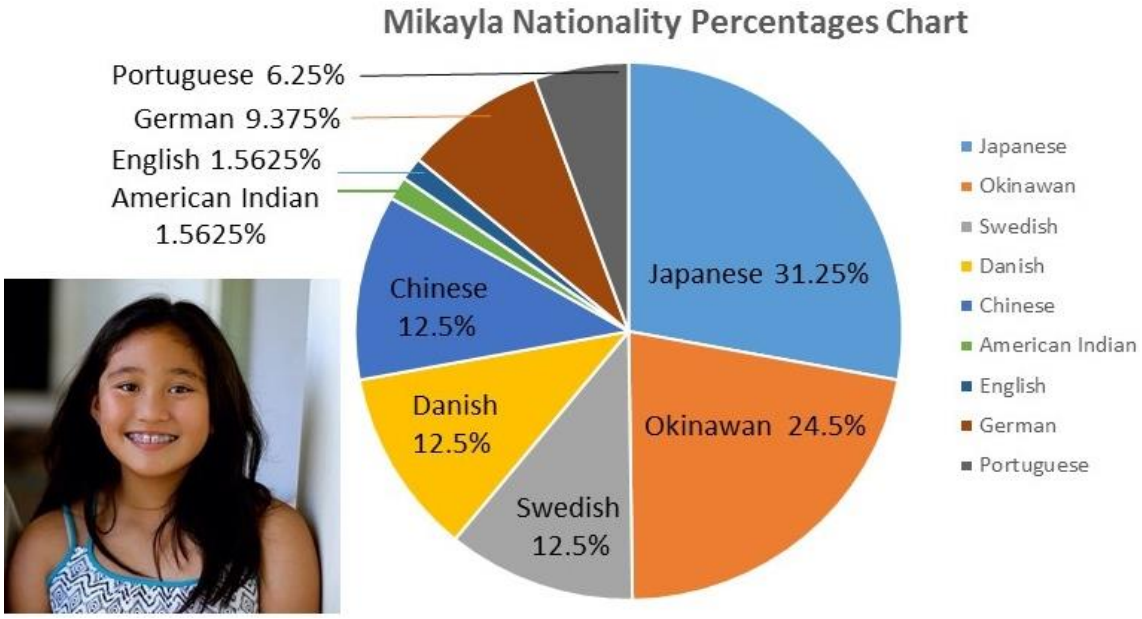
I went almost my entire life not thinking too much about my ancestry. I knew my dad was Danish and my mom was Swedish – that was enough for me. But, some recent events have gotten me interested in my family tree. A few months ago my granddaughter Mikayla had a school project that required the students to research their ancestry and prepare a "Pie Chart" showing their nationality percentages. This would be an easy project if both of her parents were 100% Japanese but it was not so easy for Mikayla. She asked me what my nationality was and of course I replied 50% Danish and 50% Swedish which makes her dad (my son) 50% Japanese (my wife is 100% Japanese), 25% Danish, and 25% Swedish. My son's side of the family was the easy part as you will see on her finished Pie Chart on the next page.

My sister Linda has been doing genealogy work through the LDS Church for years and she has sent me some interesting literature on the history of our hometown of Pleasant Grove, Utah and our forefathers who settled there. I have posted this on my website – look for "Family History" on the front page menu. Well, a couple of months ago I got thinking that Linda's ancestry and family tree should be exactly the same as mine. Since, she has already done all the work, I might as well get a copy of the results. She sent me my ancestry chart and some other information a while back and I have finally found time to take a closer look at it.

To my great surprise, I'm not 50% Danish after all!! I will discuss this in more detail later but here is what I found out. My grandfather Charles M. Petersen (who is 100% Danish) was married to my grandmother Josephine Cambron whose mother and father were Early Americans. I did some research on what is meant by Early American and last name origins. It appears that my grandmother's father was English and her mother was German.

Well, I guess it is good to find these things out. Here is my granddaughter's Nationality Pie Chart. It is a little bit wrong due to my misinformation.



Regardless, this mix of nine different nationalities has resulted in a very pretty girl.

Okay, back to my family tree. The detailed Family Tree Chart on the next page shows my family history as far back as they can find the data. This chart looks like a partial "wagon wheel" and is divided into four colored sections.

- The Blue Section is my father's father family history
- The Green Section is my father's mother family history
- The Red Section is my mother's father family history
- The Gold Section is my mother's mother family history

Starting with me and my parents, I'm going to provide some pictures and information about my ancestry.

These two pictures hung on the wall upstairs (where my sister Linda and me had our bedrooms) in our Pleasant Grove house. Everybody said that Grandpa Nelson was a very good looking man – I agree.

SWEDEN and DENMARK
(Most of my Ancestors came from these two countries)

My mother's family came from the towns of Ostra Sallerup and Malmo Malmohus located in Central Southern Sweden.

My dad's dad family came from the towns of Bindslev, Tversted, and Hjorring located in Northwestern Denmark

Malmö Castle is a medieval castle situated in the city of Malmo, Southern Sweden, which used to be a prison but nowadays houses museums.

The fish ladder in Bindslev is one of Northern Europe's most beautiful fish ladders. This is located on the Uggerby River and was constructed from boulders in 1976. During salmon runs you can watch the fish jump from step to step.

Starting with my Great Grandparents, I don't have a lot of pictures or much information. So, I'm going to put what pictures I do have below and then include the information my sister got from her genealogy and ancestry research starting on the next page.

Bonde (B. N.) Walters

Bonde joined the LDS Church in Sweden when he was 17 years old. He was a missionary in Sweden when he met his future wife, Bengra. She joined the Church at age 20 in Sweden. They waited until they went to Utah to get married in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City in 1870. Bonde was a cabinet and furniture maker. He was also a musician. He played many instruments and he led many orchestras, choirs and bands. He gave private lessons and it was said that every musician in Pleasant Grove learned from Bonde Walters.

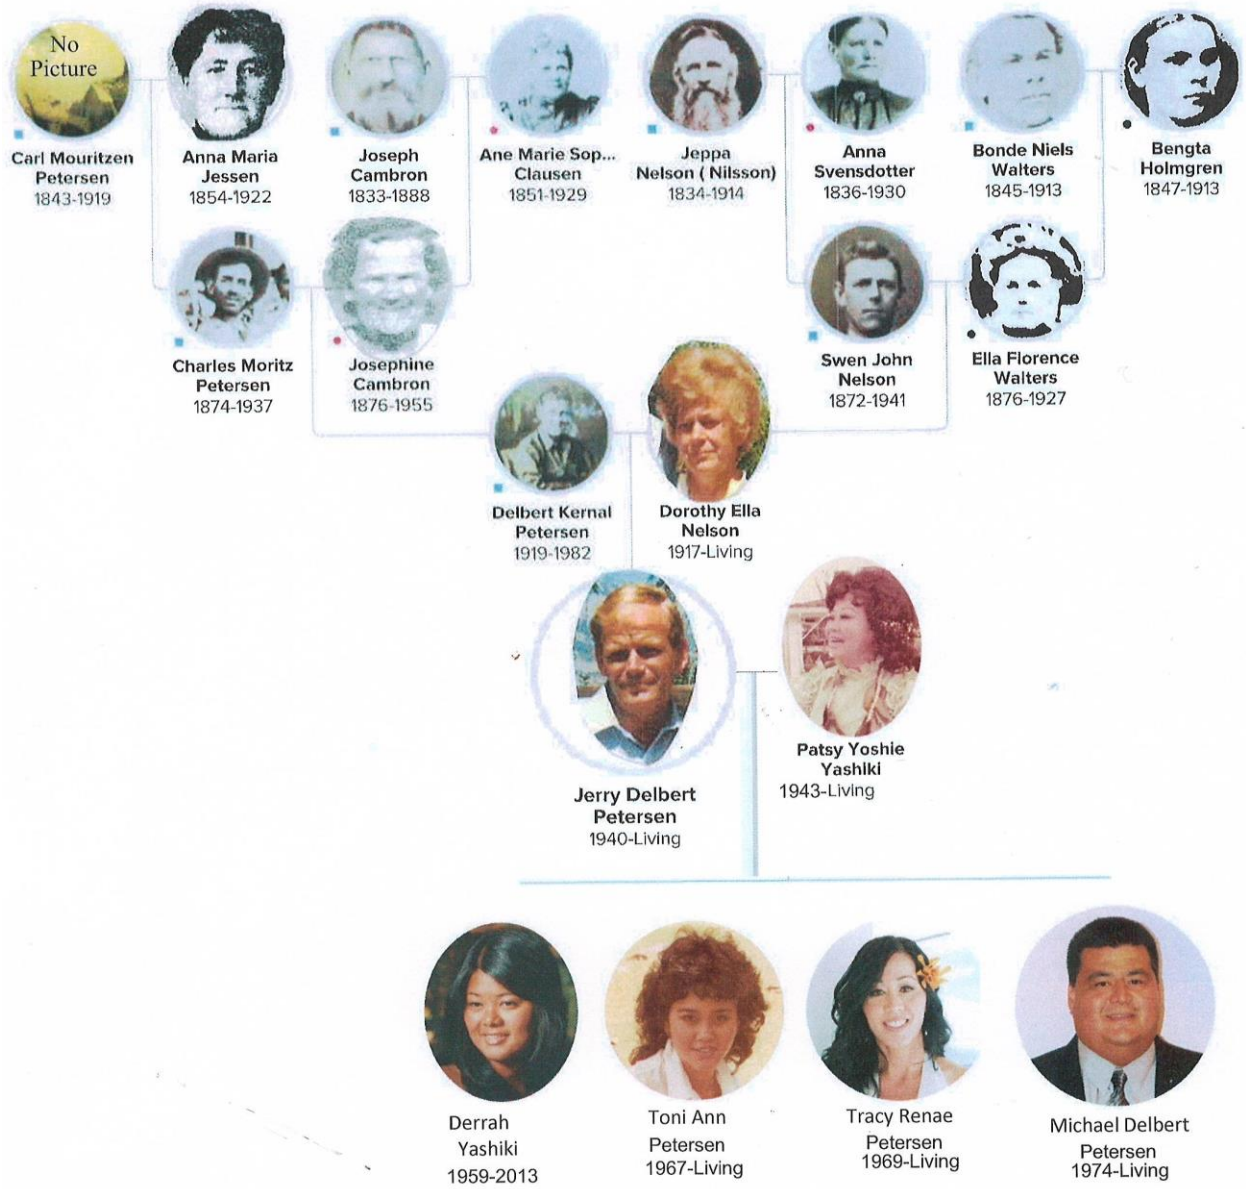
My Family Tree

JERRY DELBERT PETERSEN



SUMMARY

Okay, let's get to the bottom of what my Pedigree is and update my Nationality Pie Chart. As we found out earlier, I'm not 50% Danish. So, what am I??

You can follow the discussion of my family lines on the included Pedigree Charts.

My mother's side of the family is 100% Swedish so I must be 50% Swedish.
On my Dad's side of the family, his dad (Charles Petersen - my grandfather) and both of his parents are 100% Danish.
My dad's mother (Josephine Cambron - my grandmother) whose mother (Anne Marie Clausen – my Great Grandmother) is 100% Danish.
However, that leaves my dad's mother's father (Joseph Cambron – my Great Grandfather) who is not Swedish or Danish. His father (Benedict Cambron - my Great Great Grandfather) was born in the town of Washington in the state of Kentucky but his nationality appears to be English. His mother (Sarah Anna Ashbaugh – my Great Great Grandmother) was born in Nelson County, Kentucky and her nationality appears to be German.

Here is the breakdown:
My Great Grandmother Anne Marie Clausen is 100% Danish
My Great Grandfather Joseph Cambron is 50% English and 50% German.

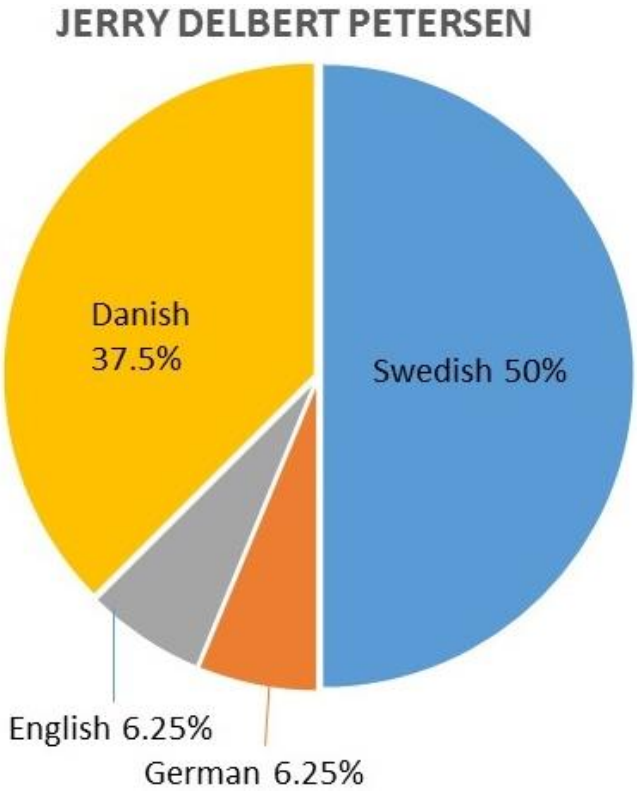
That makes my Grandmother Josephine Cambron 50% Danish, 25% English, and 25% German. Remember, my Grandfather Charles Petersen was 100% Danish.

That should make my Dad (Delbert Petersen) 75% Danish, 12.5% English and 12.5% German. Remember, my mother Dorothy Nelson is 100% Swedish.

If I calculated this correctly, I'm 50% Swedish, 37.5% Danish, 6.25% English and 6.25% German.

I found out that they call your nationality "Early American" when they can't trace your ancestry to a city and country outside the United States.

See my new Nationality Pie Chart on the next page.



Just in case you are interested in tracking your ancestry, you can start at website ancestry.com that is based in Provo, Utah. This is the largest for-profit genealogy company in the world, it operates a network of genealogical and historical record websites focused on the United States and nine foreign countries, develops and markets genealogical software, and offers a wide array of genealogical related services including DNA testing to determine your ancestry.

I don't plan to do the Ancestry DNA test – I have had enough surprises for one life time.
